Based on specified criteria, DecisionEase finds the right product for loan officers in just a few clicks. Using the latest Web-enabled technology, the interactive user interface is extremely easy to use, while simultaneously providing users with a captivating and dynamic experience.

"With growing concern over loan suitability and eligibility, driven in part by the present condition of the subprime mortgage market, the integration of Zementis' decisioning solution into ComplianceEase's risk-management platform offers lenders the flexibility and control they need to cost-effectively deploy a next-generation loan origination process across the enterprise," said John Vong, founder of ComplianceEase. This unique combination provides increased loan origination efficiency and enforces better adherence to all compliance requirements."

DecisionEase provides lenders and secondary market investors a customized solution with an on-demand Software-as-a-Service (SaaS) model. By delivering all system functionality through Web-browser and/or integrated Web-service formats in a hosted environment with SAS 70 Type II certification, this business model ensures the deployment of a complete point-of-sale system in a matter of weeks; not months.

"We are delighted to partner with ComplianceEase to provide a complete pre-qualification system," said Dr. Michael Zeller, CEO of Zementis.
